The following ideas are: preventative oral care, child abuse prevention, well child check, timeless of prenatal care Break into groups on the interest of the board members. Some things that make billboards effective: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - 7 words - Keep it simple - be smart, but not too clear - do not expect direct response from the billboard alone We may change billboards less often and supplement with a post card mailing suggestions: keep very simple, include a phone number Each group spent a few minutes brainstorming One main idea from each group included: Well child- they don't come with a manual, we can help Prenatal care- have a healthy baby, every child, every pregnancy Oral care- you should only be toothless once in your life Child abuse prevention- Mid-Valley Parenting		Jenn Richter
4:30	Demographic Analysis	Early learning retreat discussed demographics Demographics made on the reports received This is a high-level report on where the money is going 1st slide- we were not collecting demographics (ready and transition camps) Some schools could report on Ready but not on transition camps and vice versa		Emily Johnson

		Thankful for the information that was collected. The council as a whole has gotten a lot better. Council member- It is awkward to collect demographic data from parents during Ready for K Second slide- Title IV b2 Hispanic families 3rd slide More reflective of our demographics More Hispanic population 4th slide Family Core does not have ethnicity data Need more robust data After family core is referring, what happens next Is the family engaging? The report is an analysis of how our spending is reflecting our populations
4:40	RFP Awards	RFP Applications received for this year's funding. This year funding awards are reimbursable only. Received applications, complete rubric, committee meeting, and gave feedback The funding was allocated for stable attached families, Title IV B2 family support services, and School readiness Supported facilitated play groups, to engage non-licensed child care providers and families. -Also supported continued development of Latinx childcare provider cohort, making sure the Latino kids are getting quality care and the providers can get additional training. 		Funding also awarded to PMC for Reach Out and Read. Brings books into clinics. Providers give to parents to measure. Bridges the clinical world and the early learning.
4:45	Workplan Review	The HUB started with 9 metrics. The state measures success. 26 metrics were then given. Roles and indicators are being used for this year. Packet was given to council members and they can talk more in depth Pick one role. How can we measure these roles? What is a good indicator? Indication selection Suggestion track the referrals -Their suggestions do not tell us much Discussion to get feedback from the council members -Identify what services we have and then can track -Trauma informed information -Are all of our services cultural responsive? Maybe doing some trainings with these services. These trainings can be evidence based - Are we focusing on access? - Access vs priority population - How else can we help support these services? -Anything that needs to be submitted, needs to be approved by the Early Learning Division - We already have services available. What are we doing and are they culturally responsive. -Is staff bicultural, diversity, equity, bilingual, -Chemeketa had an event: impressed. All had bilingual and bicultural in Linn County Diversity or equity work What different cultures look like? It's not the county where you are from or gender identification, family culture, bi racial, bi culture,		Jenn Richter
